

Put It In Park!

Have you ever tried to park in a spot, but can't because someone has done an awful job of parking themselves? How about gotten stuck in a spot because someone has pinned you in? Join the club. These cards were created to let opposing parkers know what a crummy job they've done. Just print, clip and slip the card underneath a windshield wiper, and maybe next time the driver will do a better job. USE AT YOUR OWN RISK!

PLEASE PARK BETTER

Your bad parking job (see below) was brought to my attention when I tried to park next to you, but couldn't. If these were metered spots, you'd probably get a ticket. Really, it takes ten seconds, tops.

PLEASE PARK BETTER

Was I the victim of some elaborate plan? Did you and the other driver agree to make it nearly impossible for me to pull out of my spot a) within five minutes and, b) without hitting your car? If so, well done! It's hard enough to find spots in this area, please don't make it harder. Save your bumper(s), your car will appreciate it.

PLEASE PARK BETTER

When you parked here, did you think to yourself, "wow, these spots are huge?" If you didn't notice, you should've because you're actually taking up more than one spot. Because of that, I couldn't park in a valid spot, nor could anyone else. I bet you put your jacket on empty seats in the movie theater too, don't you.
